Concern of Amnesty International over Human Rights Scenario

*78. SHRI N.K. SINGH: Will the Minister of HOME AFFAIRS be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that once again Amnesty International has expressed its concern on suppression of human rights in India, citing instances in Nandigram, missing persons in J & K, rehabilitation of adivasis in Dantewada in Chhattisgarh and nonabolition of capital punishment;

(b) if so, the details in this regard; and

(c) the steps taken Government is contemplating to address these issues?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS (DR. SHAKEEL AHMAD): (a) to (c) Amnesty International is an International NGO based in London and is one among the many NGOs based out side India which bring out reports on alleged human rights violations, from time to time, all over the world, including India. The methods used by such organizations to gather information have often been questioned, particularly as they are not free from bias. It is not the policy of the Government to react to such reports by International NGOs on internal matters of India.

However, Government of India is committed to take all necessary measures to protect the human rights of all its citizens. The Indian Constitution contains extensive safeguards for the protection of human rights. In addition, the National Human Rights Commission has also been set up under the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993 to provide an effective mechanism for the promotion and protection of human rights, and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.

The specific issues referred to in part (a) cover a broad range of subjects ranging from Law & Order, which is a State subject, to matters of basic policy. Such issues are appropriately addressed by the relevant authorities.

Government has issued orders in May 2008 increasing the rates of allowances to various Pre Independence and Post Independence Gallantry award winners. The revised rates are given in the Statement (See below).

After issue of the revision of rates in May 2008, 'War Decorated India' and some other individuals have again requested for further revision of the rates of monetary allowances and to bring it at par with those granted to freedom fighters. As the rates of their allowances have already been revised substantially, further revision of allowances is not considered appropriate at this stage.
